

Features of the Nature of Privacy

Hamid Shahriari*

---

Abstract

Actions are not ethically equal, and it is particularly important to understand priorities among them in cases such as moral dilemmas. To find such priorities, it is helpful to consult religious statements in which “origins, ” “keys, ” “peaks, ” and “heads” of superior values are introduced. When we examine their instances, however, we face the question of how to reconcile these apparently inconsistent statements. To answer the question, we have deployed the descriptive-analytic.

Keywords

Privacy, identities, places, communications, acts.

---

* Assistant professor, Research Center for Development of Humanities (Samt), Iran. | shahriari@chmail.com